Bike Map 6 -Billerica, Bedford, Acton, Carlisle, Concord - BAY CIRCUIT TRAIL route

As shown on Bike Map 6 updated February 2024, text updated February 2024

Know Before You Go:

All section guides provide written directions for the trail in a North to South (Southbound) direction unless otherwise noted.

There are two sets of BCT maps and guides. The Hike Map Set and The Bike Map Set. Each set shows the route for its specific use. Much of the bike route overlaps with the hike route, but the separate map sets clearly display each route independently. To see where the trail uses overlap or differ, compare the map sets OR refer to the BCT Interactive Map on the Bay Circuit Trail website (<https://www.baycircuit.org>) to see the routes, and other trail use allowances, simultaneously.

Note about Trail Marking

The BCT often follows pre-existing local trails; BCT specific blazing is a work in progress and may be sparse in segments. We encourage you to review and carry corresponding local maps on your BCT walk. Trail Notices regarding trail problems and closures are posted on the website at www.baycircuit.org under the Notices tab. Please review them for updates to the trail guide and maps.

Notes by Town:

Billerica, Bedford, Concord:

North to South, distances approximate.

Acton:

North to South. Distances measured.

BCT is blazed with white rectangular blazes. Trails on town conservation will be blazed yellow for through trails, blue for connector trails, and red for side trails. Some tr jcts have signs.

Concord:

Blazed with BCT logos. For information on historic sites highlighted, see THE JEWELS page.

Bike Notes:

The BCT can be traversed by bike but it is highly recommended that you research the segments you'll be biking for the level of difficulty/technical skill required. Much of the BCT is passable by road/gravel bike, but some off-road sections include boardwalks, steep hills, mud, and rocky terrain. These guides can provide you with brief descriptions of the trail and recommendations, but they should not be your only guide/resource. Check out the Trail Forks and All-Trails apps (open source, citizen resources), local guidebooks, and additional maps for detailed trail ratings/recommendations.

Map 6 - Billerica, Bedford, Acton, Carlisle, Concord - THE JEWELS

Great Meadows National Wildlife Refuge -Concord Unit (US Fish & Wildlife Service; 3,486 acres both units) - wetlands, uplands, bottomland hardwoods along 12 miles of Sudbury River. Established in 1944 primarily as a sanctuary for migratory and wetland birds. Highest public use of all refuges in the wildlife complex. Dogs must be leashed. Bicycles and horses prohibited. 1.7 mile trail around marsh pools. Photo blinds and observation tower. Handicapped accessible. Entrance on Monsen Rd off Rte. 62 in Concord. Large map at parking lot. Maps of both this northern unit and the Sudbury unit are available at headquarters, Weir Hill Rd, Sudbury. 978-443-4661 and online: www.fws.gov/northeast/greatmeadows/

Bruce Freeman Rail Trail (BFRT) - follows the old New Haven Railroad Framingham & Lowell Line thru the communities of Lowell, Chelmsford, Westford, Carlisle, Acton, Concord, Sudbury, and Framingham in Massachusetts. Phase 1 (6.8 miles in Chelmsford and Westford) and Phase 2 in Westford, Carlisle, Acton, Concord, and Sudbury (13.1 miles) are open. Phase 3 in Sudbury and Framingham (4.6 miles), and the Concord River Greenway Connector Trail in Lowell and Chelmsford are proposed extensions. Maps online at: <http://brucefreemanrailtrail.org/trail-map/road-crossing-map-trail/>

Carlisle: detailed maps in Trails in Carlisle available for about $10 at town hall.

Greenough Land (Cons.Com; 242 acres) - trails circle a 15-acre pond and lead to Concord River. Good x-country skiing. Some trails lead to adjacent private property; use of trail map suggested. Two parking areas off Maple St

O'Rourke farm (US Fish and Wildlife Service) - town purchase of this property in 1998 with resale to become part of Great Meadows Nat'l Wildlife Refuge allowed construction of 6-miles-long public trail along river between Greenough and Foss Farm properties. No mountain bikes or horses allowed. Only foot access is from Greenough or Foss Farm properties

Foss Farm (Cons.Com; 57 acres) - flat trails along established dirt roads make this area accessible to sport wheelchairs and strollers. Land includes community gardens, fields, pony ring, and woodlands. Trail link to Greenough thru O'Rourke. P Rte. 225

Carlisles Pines State Park and MacAfee Conservation Area (Mass.DCR, town, and Carlisle Conservation Foundation; about 54 acres) - Beautiful huge pines, the survivors of a virgin stand of over 100 white pines protected in 1900 as a public reservation. Good walking and horse-riding area; snowshoeing in winter. P at end of Forest Park Dr, off Curve St (off NW corner of this map)

Spencer Brook Res (Carlisle Cons. Foundation; 31.5 acres) and Bisbee Land (Cons.Com; 35 acres) - woodlands, wetlands, agricultural lands, and some trails. Access from Concord St and Hartwell Rd. P on Concord St

Conant Land (57 acres) - multi-use property includes trails thru woodlands to Castle Rock and Fishtail Pond, beginning near Town Hall parking lot.

Towle Land Conservation Area (Cons.Com; 112 acres) - open fields and woods, small pond and many streams. Popular x-country ski area. P off Westford Rd (Rte. 225)

Davis Corridor, Malcolm Meadows, Sachs Greenway, and Rockstrom Land (Carlisle; about 190 acres) and Malcolm Preserve (The Trustees of Reservations; 11 acres) - This patchwork of public use land and conservation restrictions is confusing without a map. Of special note is handicapped accessible trail thru Malcolm Preserve (parking lot on Stearns St), built with combined efforts of The Trustees of Reservations, Carlisle Land Trust, and Mass. Greenways Program funding. Two Rod Rd connects to Concord's Punkatasset Hill.

Carlisle and Concord:

Estabrook Woods - A general region rather than a specific property, this large patchwork of town-owned land, Harvard University forestry land, and private property is crisscrossed with trails, but only some trails are open to the public. Two Rod Road and Estabrook Rd are historic right of ways. A detailed map is available online. See More Information under Concord and Carlisle trails in Trails in Carlisle. New England Orienteering Club map sold at Globe Corner Bookstore, Harvard Square shows a portion of the region in great detail.

Bedford:

Minuteman Bikeway - Beginning in Bedford and extending to the Alewife MBTA station, this paved 10 mile long recreational trail is a favorite with commuters as well as families. ADA accessible. It passes near shops, parks, and historic sites. Maps available at town halls and some local businesses and online: www.minutemanbikeway.org

Narrow Gauge Rail Trail (2 miles) - Paved from the Minuteman to Great Rd, then a wide stone dust multi-use path, suitable for families, strollers, and sport wheelchairs. Northern end near Rte. 3 in technology park. Billerica supporters hope to extend this to their high school.

Middlesex Community College - Located in a wooded industrial park near several Bedford conservation areas. Trails connect to adjacent conservation land.

Buehler Ponds Cons. Area (Cons.Com) – Trails around small ponds. Access from Narrow Gauge Rail Trail north of Fawn Lake parking and from Job Lane School trails or trail from North Road.

Fawn Lake (Cons.Com, 40 acres) - Half mile trail around the lake (which once was part of a health resort). Colored blazes on various trails. Limited fishing; ice skating. Parking lot off Sweetwater Ave. Access also from Middlesex Community College parking lot and from Springs Rd.

Wilderness Park Conservation Area (Cons.Com, 74 acres) - Well developed network of trails thru woodlands, swamp, and old-field habitats. Access from Springs Rd; parking at Middlesex Community College lot adjacent to VA Hospital.

York Conservation Area (Cons.Com, 39 acres) - One north-south trail loops off the BCT (BCT follows Narrow Gauge Rail Trail here). Access from Narrow Gauge Rail Trail north of Pine Hill Rd.

Elm Brook Conservation Area (Cons.Com; 69 acres) - Eastern area has several trails. Abuts Elm Brook and Minuteman Bikeway Extension/RR right of way. Access from Minuteman Bikeway Extension RR bed and unpaved parking area on Railroad Ave.

Minnie Reid Conservation Area (Cons.Com, 25 acres) - Abundant wildlife in varied habitats, including field that is mowed yearly. Single trail provides access to the 300 acre Huckins Farm property. Access from Chelmsford Rd (Rte. 4) near jct with North Rd

Huckins Farm – A clustered housing development with extensive trail easements and access to the Great Meadows Wildlife Refuge. Some trails are good for jogging and family walking. Trails are unpaved and biking is prohibited by the Conservation Restriction. Trail link to Harvard U. research lands south of farm. Access from Rte. 4

Hartwell Town Forest and Jordan Conservation Area (Cons. Com; 156 acres) - Extensive network of trails on flat wooded terrain. Town gardens and abandoned cranberry bogs. Picnic areas. Access from 3 points on Hartwell Rd and 2 on South Rd.

Acton: Guide and maps available. See info page.

Will Hole Cons. Land/Acton Town Forest (Cons.Com; 73 acres). - Trails, esker, boardwalk over quaking bog with carnivorous plants, larch, and black spruce. Adjoins North Acton Rec. Area or NARA (40 acres) with pond, bathhouse, athletic fields, paved walking path. Fee for beach use. Recreation Dept 978-929-6640.

Nashoba Brook Cons. Land (Cons.Com; 123 acres) - Includes two bridges and two boardwalks over/along Nashoba Brook. A historic stone chamber is near the brook, possibly an early 19th century root cellar. Access from Wheeler Lane and Davis Rd.

The Pencil Factory Dam is the ruins of a dam and associated mill where Ebenezer Wood ground graphite and manufactured pencils. Henry David Thoreau's family purchased some of the graphite for

The Trail Through Time - A bi-cultural heritage trail, follows trails within the Nashoba Brook and Spring Hill conservation parcels, portions of which are along the BCT. Besides the Stone Chamber and the Pencil Factory site, the TTT accesses stone remains of the 1730s-Wheeler (dry cattle) Farm and adjacent Robbins (grist) Mill site, both in process of stonework restoration. Additional features along the TTT are remains of the Old Road to Concord, numerous Native American stone piles and other ceremonial relics such as 'portals' and a turtle effigy. The site believed to be the Quarry for the Chamber's huge roof slabs is also on this trail. Restoration and enhancement of sites is a work in progress. Accesses are from Wheeler Lane, Davis Road, Pope Road, and Carlisle Road at .2 mi from Rt. 27.

Camp Acton (Cons. Com - 60 acres) - Former Boy Scout Camping area purchased by town with links to adjacent Spring Hill Cons. Land. Wide trail thru woodlands with many small clearings. Hunt for grave with marker "The Educated Horse 1900." Access from Rte. 27 thru Nashoba Brook Cons. Land and from Pope Rd. Primitive camping allowed for a fee of $15.00 per weekend per campsite. Call Recreation Dept. 978-929-6640 for reservations.

Spring Hill Cons. Land (Cons.Com; 184 acres) - Mixed forest, wooded wetland, deer. Access from Spring Hill Rd cul-de-sac and Jay Lane cul-de-sac at Strawberry Hill. P at base of hill on Strawberry Hill Rd.

Stonemeade Cons. Land (Cons.Com; 44 acres) - Wooded wetlands and open meadow with trail and bluebird boxes. Remains of WWII radar and aircraft spotting station.

Concord and Lincoln:

Minuteman National Historical Park (Nat'l Park Service) - A work in progress, this linear park follows the Battle Road of 1775 from Old North Bridge to Lexington. Trail connects many historic sites and period buildings, with numerous signs to interpret the human as well as historic story of the area. Wide clay path through woodlands and fields is suitable for strollers and wheelchairs as well as walkers and careful bicyclists. Maps available at Old North Bridge Visitor Center (just north of town center) and at Minuteman Visitor Center on Rte. 2A, 1/2 mile west of I- 95 jct. 978-369-6993 x22

www.nps.gov/mima/

Concord:

Punkatasset Hill (Concord Commission on Natural Resources) - trails thru town forest connect on north to Two Rod Rd, a historic right of way leading to Carlisle trails.

Annursnac Conservation Land - Woodlands accessible via BCT from gate and kiosk on Strawberry Hill Rd and from Stonemeade Cons. Area in Acton.

South Meadow Cons/Rec land (town of Concord) - Trails and playing fields.

Hapgood-Wright town forest (Concord Commission on Natural Resources) - Includes Fairyland Pond with trails around pond and thru woodlands. Parking.

Concord Historic sites along the BCT route: (Bedford and Concord)

5.9 West Bedford Station site – Until 1926 a small open air station served passengers of the Boston and Maine Reformatory Branch Railroad, where the rails crossed Concord Road beneath a wooden bridge.

6.7 Great Meadows – in colonial times this was one continuous meadow that supplied marsh hay for cattle feed. In 1928 Samuel Hoar built dikes that raised the water level to attract waterfowl for hunting, eventually giving the meadow to the federal government in 1944 as a wetlands preserve.

7.0 Native American Encampment & African American Settlement – Artifacts discovered on the ridgeline above the meadow place Paleo-Indian activity here from thousands of years ago, while Nipmuc Indians lived here in pre-colonial times until the 1800s. African American John Jack, first former slave to own land in Concord, established a farm here, followed by Caesar Robbins, a freed slave and veteran of the French and Indian and Revolutionary Wars. Caesar's children Peter and Susan built the one-room house that was moved to Monument Street where it survives as the Robbins House Interpretive Center.

7.5 Sleepy Hollow Cemetery and Author's Ridge- at a granite monument to Colonial Militia a short path leads to a cemetery cul-de-sac and a steep climb up a hill to the base of Author's Ridge where the graves of Henry David

Thoreau, Louisa May Alcott, Ralph Waldo Emerson and Nathaniel Hawthorn can be visited.

7.7 Concord Station site – A small railroad station was once located here near present day corner of Bow and Lang Streets beside a rail yard where Concord Lumber is today. It serviced Concord on the Reformatory Branch Railroad and once doubled as the publication office for the Concord Journal newspaper.

Concord historic sites along the BCT route: (Acton and Concord)

0.6 Strawberry Hill Road has been designated the "Isaac Davis Trail" - the route the Acton Minutemen took to the Battle of the North Bridge. Captain Isaac Davis was the first patriot killed in the fight. Follow the granite markers along Strawberry Hill Rd to recreate the march to the North Bridge in Minuteman National Park

1.8 and 2.0 Barrett Farmhouse (incorporated into Minute Man Nat'l Historical Park) and Barrett Mill ruins - on April 19, 1775, Col. James Barrett was in charge of all the military stores in Concord. It was for the purpose of seizing arms and supplies at his farmhouse that the British Regulars crossed the Old North Bridge that fateful day

3.3 Muster Field - where the colonial militia assembled before marching on the Bridge
100 yds left on Liberty St is the home of Major John Buttrick - commander of the colonial forces at the Bridge

3.6 Minuteman Statue - sculpted by Daniel Chester French for the 1875 Centennial Celebration

Old North Bridge - the present bridge (1956) marks the site where colonial militia and Minutemen skirmished with the British Redcoats on April 19, 1775 ("the shot heard round the world"), launching the American Revolution

Grave of British Soldiers - with inscription by James Russell Lowell, 1837

3.7 Robbins House Interpretive Center – the restored one-room house dating to 1823 was originally inhabited by African Americans of the Robbins family and moved to this site in 2011 as the center for Concord's African American and Abolitionist History.

3.8 The Old Manse (The Trustees of Reservations; 8 acres) - a Nat'l Historic Landmark. Built in 1769 by Rev.

Wm. Emerson, later home of Ralph Waldo Emerson and also Nathaniel Hawthorne and family, among others. Guided tours seasonally; admission fee. Abuts Old North Bridge. Self-guided landscape tour brochure

Elisha Jones "Bullethole House" - although built in 1865, this building contains pre-1775 materials. Tradition holds that the hole visible in center of the diamond shape to the left of the door was made by a musket ball fired by the retreating Redcoats in 1775

4.5 Monument Square - includes monuments to Concordians killed in wars. Also, a small white stone toward rear of field on right marks the spot where Henry David Thoreau spent a night in jail, prompting his "Essay on Civil Disobedience." Adjacent to the square is the red brick Concord Town House (1852), the site of lectures by Emerson, Thoreau, Amos Bronson Alcott, William Lloyd Garrison, John Brown, and many others

Rte. 62, 3 blocks NE of town center is Sleepy Hollow Cemetery - graves of Thoreau, Emerson, Hawthorne, the Alcotts, Margaret Sidney, and Daniel Chester French

4.6 Wright Tavern (1747) - meeting place for committees of the First Provincial Congress and gathering place for both Minutemen and British officers at different times on April 19, 1775

Monuments to Concord war dead from WWII to VietNam

4.9 Concord Independent Battery Gun House (1960) - at far corner of Heywood Meadow red brick building holds brass cannons of the Concord Independent Battery

5.0 Home of Ralph Waldo Emerson (1828). Across the street is the Concord Museum

5.0 Mill Brook – flowing from Crosby's Pond through Concord it was the source water for a mill pond once at Heywood Meadow that powered a gristmill from as early as Concord's founding.

5.3 Cargill Farm Ditch – excavated in the early 1800s to drain excess ground water from a swampy farm that was left to Concord by Revolutionary War patriot Hugh Cargill for the benefit of the poor.

5.7 Fairyland Pond – the 2.75 acre pond was built in the late 1800s by damming Hubbard's Swamp, then part of a continuous woodland to Walden Pond that Henry David Thoreau and the Alcott girls fancifully called "Fairyland".

6.0 Brister's Spring – in a shallow ravine along Brister's Hill a post identifies "Brister's Spring", named for the freed slave Brister Freeman and frequented for its refreshing water by Henry David Thoreau.

6.1 Brister Freeman Home Site – a ground stone just off the BCT beside Walden Street marks the approximate location of Brister Freeman's early 1800s home site. Brister was a slave who gained his freedom following his service in the Revolutionary War, then became the second freed slave to own land in Concord.

6.2 Walden Woods Interpretive Site – a chained gate off Walden Street marks the entry point to trails with ground-mounted plaques inscribed with Thoreau's insights, leading to a reflection circle of stones inscribed with quotations of thinkers and leaders whose words echo Thoreau's.
